ACSW #119761

Hello, my name is Jesse Economakos. I am an ACSW who recently graduated from USC and working towards my license. I have specialized in helping adults who have struggled with various traumas and addictions. I approach therapy utilizing an empathetic and compassionate ear. I work with the individual in putting together a collaborative plan to help them with addressing their issues and help them with moving forward. I like to take a strength-based approach along with psychoeducation to help the individual develop the best interventions for them, and promote their well-being.
